Wings Credit Union Signs with Corelation, Selecting KeyStone to Elevate Its Future

SAN DIEGO - February 24, 2026: Wings Credit Union has signed with Corelation, confirming their decision to select the KeyStone core to power what is a newly combined cooperative following a strategic merger-of-equals between Colorado and Minnesota’s largest credit unions. Ent and Wings officially joined forces under the Wings name on Jan. 1, 2026, becoming one of the largest credit unions in the United States. Wings now serves close to 1 million members across Colorado, Minnesota, and beyond with nearly $20 billion in assets.

This partnership marks another pivotal milestone in Corelation’s history, as Wings becomes the largest credit union to sign with Corelation.

“As our newly combined cooperative takes shape, our focus remains steadfast on providing exceptional member service,” said Song Hou, Wings Credit Union Chief Digital & Technology Officer. “A major part of that focus is investing in modern technology that meets our members’ current and future needs. With KeyStone, we can expand our abilities to provide best-in-class technology, increased reliability with less downtime, and streamline our processes for our back-office and front-office operations.”

The merger between Ent and Wings builds upon the strategic, intentional growth both credit unions have fostered in recent years. Combining forces opens the door for greater opportunities and KeyStone provides the ideal technology foundation for their journey ahead.

“KeyStone’s modern, person-centric design and system reliability were critical factors in our decision to partner with Corelation,” added Hou. “Our teams are really excited about KeyStone’s innovative technology that will enable us to eliminate manual processes and drive future growth and advancement together. The efficiencies that KeyStone will create in our operations will translate into faster, more streamlined service and ultimately allow us to do more for our members.”

Wings is scheduled to convert to KeyStone in 2028.

“We are incredibly proud to welcome Wings Credit Union into our Corelation family,” shared Rob Landis, Corelation’s CEO. “Wings will be among the largest credit unions that Corelation has partnered with, and we are honored that they have placed their trust in us to empower the bright future of their new, unified organization.”

About Wings Credit Union

Wings Credit Union and Ent Credit Union united in a merger of equals Jan. 1, 2026, creating a stronger, member-focused financial cooperative serving nearly 1 million members with approximately $20 billion in assets. The combined credit union is transitioning to the Wings Credit Union name, with Ent-branded service centers continuing to serve members in Colorado during a phased brand transition.

Founded in 1938, Wings is headquartered in Apple Valley, Minnesota, and Ent, established in 1957, is headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colorado. Together, they bring complementary strengths, shared values, and a longstanding commitment to exceptional member service. Wings will operate with dual headquarters, reflecting its continued presence in both regions. As a not-for-profit financial cooperative, Wings offers more than 90 service centers, robust digital banking capabilities, and a full suite of financial solutions. The credit union also invests deeply in the local communities it serves through philanthropy, education, and programs that promote long-term financial well-being. Both Wings and Ent were recognized by Newsweek as two of the best credit unions of 2026, underscoring their shared commitment to financial strength and an outstanding member experience.

Wings is an Equal Housing Lender and Equal Opportunity Lender, federally insured by NCUA. Learn more at WingsCU.com and Ent.com.
